MT. STERLING, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1905.

NUMBER 26

FULL TEXT OF THE TERMS OF SURRENDER

All Officers Of Port Arthur Paroled.

Tokio, Jan. 5.—A telegram from General Nogi giving the text of the Capitulation Convention was received this afternoon. It is as follows:

Article 1.
"All Russian soldiers, marines, volunteers and also government officials at the garrison and harbor of Port Arthur are to be taken prisoners."

Article 2.
"All forts, batteries, warships, other ships and boats, arms, ammunition, homes, all materials for hostile use, government buildings and all objects belonging to the Russian government shall be referred to the Japanese army in their present condition."

Article 3.
"On the preceding conditions being accepted to, as a guarantee for fulfillment thereof, the men garrisoning the forts and batteries on Ritsue mountain, Sanshu mountain, Antsue mountain and flags of eminence southeast therefrom, shall be removed by noon of January 1, and the same shall be transferred to the Japanese army."

Article 4.
"Should the Russian military or naval men be deemed to have destroyed objects named in Article 2, or to have caused alterations in their condition existing at the time of signing this compact, negotiations shall be annulled and the Japanese army will take free action."

Article 5.
"The Russian military and naval authorities shall prepare and transfer to the Japanese army a table showing fortifications at Port Arthur and their respective positions and maps showing the location of mines under ground and submarine, and all other dangerous objects. Also a table showing the composition and system of army and navy garrisons at Port Arthur. A list of army and navy officers with names, rank and duties of said officers. A list of army steamers, warships and other ships, with numbers of their respective crews, list of civilians, showing the number of men and women, their race and occupations."

Article 6.
"Arms, including those carried on persons, ammunition, war materials, government buildings, objects owned by the government, horses, warships and other ships, including their contents, excepting private property, shall be left in their present positions, and commissioners of the Russian and Japanese armies shall decide upon the method of their transferance."

Article 7.
"The Japanese army, considering the gallant resistance offered by the Russian army as being heroic, will permit all officers of the Russian army and navy as well as all civilians belonging thereto to carry records and take with them private property directly necessary for the maintenance of life. The previously mentioned officers, officials and volunteers who will sign a written parole pledging that they will not take up arms and in no wise take action contrary to the interest of the Japanese army until the close of the war will receive the consent of the Japanese army to return to their country. Each army and navy officer will be allowed one servant, and such servant will be specifically released on signing a parole."

Article 8.
"Non-commissioned officers and privates, both army, navy and volunteers, shall wear their uniforms, taking portable arms and necessary private property, and be commanded by their respective officers. All assembly at such places as will be indicated by the Japanese army. The Japanese commissioners will indicate the necessary details therefor."

Article 9.
"A sanitary corps and accountants belonging to the Russian army and navy, shall be retained by the Japanese while their service is deemed necessary for caring for sick and wounded prisoners. During such times such corps shall be required to render service under the sanitary corps and accountants of the Japanese army."

Article 10.
"The treatment to be accorded to residents, the transfer of books and documents relating to municipal administration and finance, and also detailed files necessary for the enforcement of this compact shall be remedied in a supplementary compact. The supplementary compact shall have the same force as this compact."

Article 11.
"One copy each of this compact shall be prepared for the Japanese and Russian armies, and it shall have immediate effect upon the signature thereof."

STORY OF PORT ARTHUR'S FAILING FIGHT TOLD BY STOESSSEL

Tells a Pitiful Story of Death and Loss.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 4.—Gen. Stoessel's dispatches to the General Staff the various stages of the defense of Port Arthur, as follows:

On December 28 the General wrote: "The position of the fortress is very painful. Our principal enemies are scurvy, which is mowing the men, and eleven-inch shells, against which there is no protection. There only remain a few who have not been attacked by scurvy."

"The passive endurance of the enemy's bombardment, the eleven-inch shells, the impossibility of replying for want of ammunition, the outbreak of scurvy and the loss of a mass of officers—these causes diminish daily the capabilities of defense."

Of ten Generals who have been killed: Ramzovskiy is dead, two are wounded, myself and Gennadey, while Gorbatsky is suffering from contusions. Of nine regiment commanders and colonels one has been killed, two have succumbed to wounds and four others have been wounded. One Lieutenant Colonel has been killed and two are wounded."

On December 29 Gen. Stoessel wrote: "At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the Japanese blew up part of the parapet of Fort No. 3. They occupied the parapet and at dusk two battalions had entered the interior of the fort."

LOSS OF THE NORTH FRONT.

"Part of our troops hid themselves in the casemates, but the Japanese placed machine guns in front of the exit from the casemates, thus depriving our men of all possibility of an attack. The fort remained in possession of the Japanese. Survivors of the garrison succeeded in getting out of the fort by the windows and the occupation of this fort the Japanese became masters of the whole north front. We have almost no ammunition."

"Scurvy is weakening the garrison. I have now under arms only 10,000 men, attack."

"Among the other high officers there was an enormous percentage of killed or several times wounded. Many companies are commanded by ensigns and the companies only average sixty men strong."

HOSPITALS BOMBARDED.

"The Japanese yesterday exploded a mine under Fort No. 5 and about a score of heavily Japanese mounted the rampart, but were exterminated by bayonets and hand grenades. In revenge the Japanese bombarded with eleven-inch shells, especially the hospitals and ambulances."

"There are 14,000 sick and wounded in the hospitals and the number increases by about 700 daily."

For Sale or Rent.

Highly improved stock farm of 375 acres in the Blue Grass section of Clark County Kentucky, situated on the Mt. Sterling and Winchester turnpike, being about seven miles from Winchester and the same from Mt. Sterling, Ky. Can be divided into four farms as follows:

One of 80 acres with good house of five rooms; and a new tobacco barn. One of 100 acres adjoining above, with house of four rooms and large tobacco barn. One of 180 acres with large dwelling of eight rooms, all necessary out-buildings, three barns and two tenant houses, two barns and out-buildings. 25-31

A. F. BYRD Declares That The Court House Breathitt is a Temple of Injus tice and a Clearing House for Assassination.

At Winchester on Tuesday of last week A. F. Byrd, counsel for Mrs. Marcum in her damage suit spoke for seven hours, pictured the man standing in the court house door at Jackson when the deadly bullet from an assassin's revolver struck his voice forever. The building, said Mr. Byrd, where Marcum was so foully murdered, was built to be used as a temple of justice, but since the defendants had come into political power in that county, it had been used as a temple of injustice and a "clearing house for assassination." The speaker painted a picture for the jury showing the man standing in the front door of that building on that fateful morning, while on the opposite side of the street in what the speaker designated as "Port Hargis," a council was held in which it was decided that the last day on earth for J. B. Marcum had arrived and that while Curtis Jett and Tom White went forth to perform the duties for which, he said, they had been engaged, James Hargis and Ed. Callahan, one the County Judge, and the other the Sheriff, stood just within and anxiously listened for the crack of the revolver of one or both of the assassins that would make the man they so bitterly hated "bite the dust."

"The people may say," said Mr. Byrd "why some criminal action is not taken against these defendants in Breathitt county, but that can easily be answered by reference to their own statements that they control the courts and state officials, and by that boast defy any action against them."

Mr. Byrd said that when J. B. Marcum was shot down in the court house door at Jackson, he Byrd, had the fortune or misfortune, he did not know which, to be Commonwealth's Attorney of the judicial district of which Jackson and Breathitt county was a part. He said that when he first began a legal investigation of that murder, every means had been used by these defendants to defeat him in his duty and to keep the law from dealing out justice to the men who, he said, had acted as their agents in the assassination of J. B. Marcum.

"The defendant, Jim Hargis, comes before the jury," said Mr. Byrd, "and boasts of the fact that he is County Judge of his county, and member of the Democratic State Central Committee from his district, and in every way that was possible has injected politics in this case for the purpose of showing that he has the confidence of the people of his party throughout the State." But the very fact, said the speaker, that he is a member of the Democratic State Central Committee, he thought a shame on that body.

Believe the testimony of the defendants, said Mr. Byrd, and they are entitled to be called Judge Hargis, Senator Hargis, Judge French and Sheriff Callahan, but believe the evidence that has been produced by the plaintiffs in the case with "the witnesses who were not enticed away," and they may be called conspirators."

His bitter arraignment of James and Alex Hargis, Ed. Callahan and B. F. French, the four defendants in the Marcum damage suit, was by many believed to be more severe than was his speech to the jury which convicted Curtis Jett and Tom White for the assassination of Marcum.

Children Poisoned.
Many children are poisoned and made nervous and weak, if not killed outright, by mothers giving them cough syrups containing opiates. Foley's Honey and Tar is a safe and certain remedy for coughs, croup and lung trouble, and is the only prominent cough medicine that contains no opiates or other poisons. Sold by W. S. Lloyd. 25-41

PORTO RICO. Afflicted With a Parasite That Destroys Energy and is Killing the Population.

A letter to the Herald New York from Maj. Seaman, M. D., who has been privately investigating conditions among the inhabitants of Porto Rico, states that the high death rate there and the anaemic condition of the rural population are due to the so-called hook worm. The worm causes an attack of length of three-quarters of an inch. Treatment of five thousand cases and exhaustive investigation by a medical commission extending of over the last year, show that the disease produced by the worm has caused more than 30 per cent of the deaths in Porto Rico.

The parasite development requires about two months and its work in the intestines has been found to greatly reduce the red corpuscles of the blood. At least 50 per cent of the rural population on the island is asserted to be afflicted by the parasite.

"Little Colds" neglected—thousands of lives sacrificed every year. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cures little colds—cures big colds too, down to the very verge of consumption. 25-41.

Enormous Sums Paid for Pensions

Since the Civil War the Government of the United States has paid $13,759,018 for pensions to its soldiers. Previous to that time, from July 1, 1790, to June 30, 1865, the total expenditures for that purpose were $9,445,444, making a total of $23,204,462 since the beginning of the government.

Of this total $70,000,000 was paid on account of the war of the Revolution; $45,000,000 on account of the war of 1812; $2,000,000 on account of the Italian war; $15,000,000 on account of the Mexican war; $8,500,000 on account of the war with Spain; $2,000,000 on account of the regular army, and the balance, more than $20,000,000 on account of the war of the rebellion.

This total does not include nearly 69,000,000 acres of land given as bounties nor the sums that have been spent for the establishment and maintenance of the soldiers' homes.

The average value of a pension is now $34.04 a year. More than half of the pensions paid are $10 per month and under, certainly a modest sum for a brave defender of his country to draw from the government in his old age.

Stop It.

A neglected cough or cold may lead to serious bronchitis or lung trouble. Don't take chances when Foley's Honey and Tar affords perfect security from serious effects of a cold. Sold by W. S. Lloyd. 25-41.

Witnesses Taken to Indian Fields by a Mt. Sterling Man.

We clip the following from the Lexington Leader of January 4:

"Passengers arriving last night from Jackson brought the report that Mose Felts and Sam Fields, the two witnesses who in plaintiff in the Marcum damage suit alleged were enticed away by the defendants to prevent them from giving their testimony in the case, had returned to the mountains of Eastern Kentucky and were now on the way to their homes in Leslie county."

The men, it is said, boarded the east bound L. & E. train at Indian Fields, having come from Cincinnati on the L. & N. to a point between Winchester and Richmond, from which place they were met by Charles Wilson, a son-in-law of Judge Spencer, of Jackson, and driven to Indian Fields. The two witnesses were still accompanied by Felix Felts, who has been with them since the night they left Winchester.

What The Japs Get

CHEFOO, Jan. 4.—The Japanese consuls inspected the Russian vessels during the day and pronounced the progress made in their disarmament satisfactory. He said that the property which fell into the hands of the Japanese at Port Arthur was only amounted to 50,000 tons of coal and two months ration of rice.

Of 270 officers in the Russian navy at Port Arthur at the beginning of the war 180 have been killed or wounded, many of them while doing duty in the forts.

MRS. JOHN HOSKINS. SAYS: "WHY DON'T YOU PUBLISH WHAT VINOL HAS DONE FOR OUR BOY."

So that Other Mt. Sterling Parents May be Benefited as We Have Been.

Such requests are continually coming to us, and we have over and over again published in the Advocate for the benefit of Mt. Sterling people, not only our opinion of Vinol and why it is so far superior to all the other tonics and cod liver oil preparations, but unquestionable testimony from our best class of citizens and physicians proving its wonderful curative and strength creating properties.

Mrs. Hoskins writes: "Our boy since a child has suffered terribly with bronchitis during cold weather. For years we used cod liver oil, emulsions and other medicines, which upset his stomach, gave him temporary relief, and did not cure. Vinol was recommended and we tried it, and I am thankful to say he is entirely cured and in better health than he has been for years. I wish you would publish this in the Advocate, as I am sure many others who had to know of such a healing and strength creating medicine for their children."

Mr. Lloyd says: "The reason Vinol accomplishes such results after everything else fails is because it contains in a concentrated form all of the curative, strength-creating properties of cod liver oil, but without a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, whereas many of the imitations of Vinol, claiming to be cod liver oil preparations, contain drugs and chemicals claimed to have the same effect as Vinol, but which cannot, as they never come from the cod's liver at all and contain no cod liver oil elements. The secret of separating the medicinal elements of the cod liver from the oil is known only to the makers of Vinol. Therefore, there can be no other cod liver oil preparation just as good or just like Vinol."

So sure are we that Vinol is far superior to all other tonics, cod liver oil and emulsions that we freely offer to return the money in every case where it fails to give perfect satisfaction. Wm. S. Lloyd, Druggist.

Howards Mill.

One of the most delightful social events of the season occurred at the residence of Mr. Reubin Barnes on the evening of the 4th inst. More than fifty old and young people gathered and all enjoyed themselves until about midnight with games, music and dancing. All quiet, peaceable and happy. The event will long be remembered, as will be Mr. Barnes, one of the guests.

Born on January 3 to Cleveland Shults and wife a 11 pound boy. Mother and babe doing well.

On Monday, and inst, a large number of men and boys riding C. W. Hartgrove's farm and shucked about 75 shocks of corn and were treated to a fine dinner and supper. At night about 25 couples danced to splendid music furnished by Marion Carter, Clay Donohue and others until morning, all enjoyed themselves highly.

A Life At Stake

Causes of Japanese and Russian War.

The differences between Russia and Japan leading up to the war have probably been more or less forgotten in the horrors of war and are recalled in the following outline.

First—After the Boxer disturbances the powers agreed to maintain the territorial integrity of China. Russia reserved the right to occupy Manchuria, agreeing to evacuate when peace was restored. April, 1903, was the date fixed for this evacuation. This was afterward extended to October 9. Russia, despite the objections of Japan, still continued in its occupancy of Manchuria.

Second—Fear on the part of the Japanese that should Russia absorb Manchuria it would inevitably follow that Russia would absorb Korea.

Third—Russian occupancy of Korea would be a vital restriction of the commerce and peaceful activities of Japan in the most promising field for Japanese development in Asia.

Fourth—The action of Russian agents in pursuing a course indicating a design to control important strategic points.

Fifth—The warlike preparations of Russia in Manchuria, and Japan throughout its territories, during the time when both countries were mutually engaged in diplomatic negotiations.

ARE CHAMPION LAYERS.

Product of American Hens Is Officially Estimated at Twenty Billion Eggs a Year.

Washington, D. C.—Figures bigger than those handled in a treasury report for the prospectus of a "get-rich-quick" scheme are those in the annual report of James Wilson, secretary of agriculture. After showing that the products of the United States farms in one year are worth $4,000,000,000, Secretary Wilson states that the hens of the United States lay 1,665,000,000 dozens of eggs a year, a total of about 20,000,000,000 eggs, or enough in one month to pay the interest of the entire national debt of the United States for one year.

Although the egg crop has been valuable, it does not compare with the corn crop, which ranks first and would pay off the national debt and the interest thereon for a year.

Secretary Wilson makes a few comparisons. He says that all the gold mines of the entire world have not produced since Columbus discovered America as much gold as the hens of this country in two years.

Odd Sources of Asthma.

London.—Some astonishing details as to the cause of asthma are given by British medical men. In one case asthma was brought on by contact with flowers; in another by the smell of sulphur scent, and in a third by that of sulphur matches. In another case a medical man always found himself attacked by asthma when he visited a house where there was a cat, and did not finally recover until the cat died. Other instances are given in which pigeons, canaries and thrushes caused asthma to their owners, and one in which the malady always was brought on by the smell of horses.

Gift of Rare Orchids.

St. Louis.—Albina R. Nunzio, commissioner general from Mexico to the Louisiana purchase exposition, at the close of the fair presented to Shaw's garden the large and rare collection of orchids which filled the conservatory of the Mexican national pavilion during the world's fair period. The orchid collection at Shaw's garden has been pronounced the most complete and the largest of air-freighted plants in the United States. With the superb gift from Mexico, it is now one of the finest in the world.

Persians Come to Time.

A gang of fanatics murdered Rev. Benjamin W. Labaret, a U. S. Missionary to Persia, on the 13th of March, 1904, and the Persian Government was slow to pay the indemnity demanded by the United States until a few days ago Secretary notified the Persian officials that the matter would be brought before the United States Congress, whereupon the Persians paid to the widow $30,000 quickly.

Commendable For Subscribers.

We have received of D. E. Eldridge of Lexington, full amount due on his subscription to date. He wishes to discontinue and sent what was due. This is right, honest and commendable, and not like some other subscribers who have been indebted to us from 1 month to 1 or 3 years, etc., who will have the postmaster send a card saying that — paper is uncalled for, or that — refuses to take paper or has moved away. This entails loss of time and expense to us, if not entire loss of past dues. We regret to know that some people thus unintentionally or wilfully disregard their obligation, or place such low estimate on their promise. We thank and commend Mr. Eldridge.

"Five million dollars paid for a lie," is the way J. W. Brown, a Des Moines wholesale produce merchant, describes the sequel to the story concerning the cabbage snake.

Asked To Reverse Itself.

Attorney General Hays has petitioned the Court of Appeals to reverse itself in the Caleb Powers case and allow the sentence of death to stand. Since the Court decided the case Judge Cantrell, Democrat, has succeeded Judge Burnam, Republican.

Soldiers Transferred.

Fifty per cent. of the Russian officers will share the fate of their men and go to Japan as prisoners. The transfer of prisoners at Port Arthur was completed Saturday. The total number of officer transferred was 878, and the number of men was 23,491. The Japanese are preparing to establish a naval base at Port Arthur.

Articles Lost and Found.

Most articles lost are of sufficient value to justify some effort, time, or money in endeavor to secure their return. If the thing lost is of insignificant value either for its intrinsic worth or the association connected with it, the owner may prefer to lose it rather than expend effort, time or money to get it. Publicity is usually desired. How to convey to the public the fact that something has been lost is a matter that presents itself. Telling a few neighbors may restore the lost; tacking a notice on a tree or telephone pole is apt to attract some attention. In preference to either of these we recommend the use of the columns of a newspaper which reaches the majority of the people or more people than any other paper in the neighborhood. Even this method may not be effective, but is generally recognized as the most serviceable. The others can be resorted to if the day of publication is too far off, and the immediate return of the lost article is desired. For example: a man loses a bunch of keys. This is apt to bring great inconvenience, delay in business or breaking of locks. What he desires is to let the people know that he has lost. Some months ago a bunch of keys was found in front of the Advocate office; on the ring was a ware-house key. We presumed this belonged to a merchant or coal or produce man. We knew their value. We could have kept the keys until our publication day, inserted an ad and charged for it. No. We began telephoning and called up several business men, and also told one on the street. We found the owner and were glad to restore the lost. On Monday as the writer was crossing the street a lady was driving by in a buggy. We saw a leather bag drop from her buggy. We called to her, picked it up and gave it to her.

People who find articles should make an effort to restore to owner, the effort demanding somewhat on value of article found. Somebody has a fine brown fur lady's neck-piece lost or stolen in this city on December 31. We hope it has been found not stolen. If found, the finder should advertise it. If no effort is made to find owner, the finder should feel restless because he or she is appropriating an article belonging to another.

GOVERNOR HAS BEEN BESIEGED BY APPLICANTS.

Vacancies in The Special Session of The Legislature.

When the General Assembly convenes in special session tomorrow, for the purpose of considering the matter of a new site for the $1,000,000 Capitol, there will be six, possibly seven, vacant places in the lower house, and one or two in the Senate. Three members of the lower branch died and three resigned to accept higher honors or more lucrative political places. One of the vacancies existed at the opening of the last regular session, the Hon. D. L. Hubble, of Somerset, passing away the day before the session opened. During the session Representative Harry McDonald, of Louisville, died; following adjournment, Carl Day, of Breathitt District.

After the regular session two of the Louisville delegation resigned, Herman Newcomb and James P. Edwards. The other legislator to resign was Representative R. B. Bradley, of Hopkins, who accepted the place of County Judge.

In the Senate the only certain vacant place is that of Senator Weller, of Louisville. It is said that Senator J. W. Gilber, of the Callaway district, is too ill to come to the special session, and Senator Charles Carroll, of the Bullitt district, has a chance of losing his place by having cast his vote in the city of Louisville.

Post Office Department Moves.

The postoffice department has given two grateful signs of life. First, it has announced a prospective crusade against guessing contests. Second, the postmaster general recommends a discriminated postage rate for parcels deposited at the postoffice from which the rural route starts. This is not only an advantage to those who have along the route but it is an advantage to the local merchant as well. It is, too, a discrimination based on justice, just as is the one cent rate on local letters in towns which do not have letter carriers. When the one cent postage is extended it will probably be extended to local letters in carrier towns. And are we not ready for that step in advance?

The Independent Order of Foresters, a fraternal insurance organization of Toronto, Canada, having a surplus of nearly eight million, has entered Kentucky to do business and as is required by law, designated Attorney Earl W. Senff, of this city, as the person upon whom process shall be served in the event of litigation against the Order.

Reading in this issue the beauty and blessing of Hope by W. J. Bryan. He gives admirable suggestions for the new year.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Damage and Divorce Suits.

Court convenes on Monday. At January term, 1904, there were 52 new cases. At this January term, 1905, there are only 26 new cases. Of these there are 5 colored divorce suits, and 2 white. Two damage suits will attract attention. W. W. Scott sues Jno. W. Lockridge for $5,000—for language reflecting on Scott.

Chas. Webster sues Dr. J. A. Vansant for $5,000. Our town people will remember that during the Street Fair some men and boys amused themselves by throwing paper in the faces of passersby, or by using a tickler on the face. As Dr. Vansant and wife were passing on the street some one took such liberty with Mrs. Vansant. The Doctor knocked Webster down. The suit comes from this.

$3,000 Assessed Against Jas Hargis and Ed. Callahan.

EXONERATION FOR ALEX HARGIS AND B. F. FRENCH.

Motion For New Trial By Defendants.

On Saturday noon the celebrated case was given to the jury at Winchester. On Monday at 4 o'clock a verdict was returned against James Hargis and Ed. Callahan for $3,000, and exonerating Alex. Hargis and French from the charge of conspiring to murder J. B. Marcum.

A Attorney Stevenson for the defense notified the court that motion for new trial would be filed for James Hargis and Ed. Callahan.

The plaintiff will appeal from that part of verdict in favor of Alex. Hargis and B. F. French. Indications are that proceedings for murder will be instituted against the defendants.

TOOK BACK MINOR CHARGES

Methodist insisted on "Presbyterian," But Retreated "Robber" and "Liar" Statement.

In a certain town of western Massachusetts, relates Harper's Weekly, two of the most prominent citizens are a Methodist brother and a Presbyterian brother. These are neighbors and, for the most part, dwell on good terms, except when they try to effect an exchange of horses or to talk religion. On one occasion the two had traded horses and although the outcome ranked in the breast of the Methodist they had met and started a discussion on the subject of predestination. As usual, an altercation ensued, when the Methodist lost control of himself. With mixed emotions concerning horses traded and John Calvin in his mind, he suddenly exclaimed:

"You are a robber, a liar and a Presbyterian!"

This proved too much for the Presbyterian, and in a flash, in which the Presbyterian got the best of it. As he sat upon his prostrate opponent, bumping his head against the ground, he said:

"Take it back, take it back, or I'll bump your foolish head off!"

"I'll take it back," gasped the vanquished Methodist, "on the first counts. You're not a robber nor a liar, but you're a blamed old Presbyterian, if I die for it!"
